Fresh Air in Winter

In winter, it is hard to get fresh air in certain rooms. Some rooms in a house are usually colder than others, and if you open the windows it is hard again to heat the room properly.
If you keep the windows closed you don't get fresh air; if you keep them open you cannot quickly reheat the room. The

PERFECTION OIL HEATER
Absolutely smokeless and odorless solves the difficulty. You can leave the windows in a room open all day in winter, and when you close them apply a match to a Perfection Oil Heater and heat the room to any temperature you desire in a few minutes.

The Perfection Oil Heater is finished in Japan or nickel. It burns for nine hours. It has a cool handle and a damper top. It has an automatic flame spreader, which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be quickly cleaned. An indicator always shows amount of oil in the font.
The filler-cap does not need to be screwed down. It is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached to the font by a chain.

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, because of a new device in construction, and consequently, it can always be easily unclogged in an instant for reworking. The Perfection Oil Heater is strong, durable, well made, built for service, yet light and ornamental.

COAL LAND FRAUDS IN ALASKA

Indictment of a Number of Claimants to Valuable Tracts Announced.

Washington, Oct. 14.—After months of secret effort and patient waiting, the officials of the general land office were able to announce today the indictment of a number of claimants to valuable coal lands in Alaska. The entries involved number 154 and cover almost 25,000 acres of land, all of which lie in the Bering strait district in which the Cunningham claims are situated. They are what are known as the English or Stracey and the Christopher-Simonds groups, the former containing 80 and the latter 74 claims of 160 acres each. The deposits covered by these claims are estimated to be as rich as those of the Cunningham mines, which are a conspicuous feature in the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy.

The indictments were handed down in the United States district court sitting at Tacoma, Wash., and the information that they had been returned was conveyed in two telegrams received today by Commissioner Dennett from Special Agent Christensen, in charge of Alaskan matters, to whose efforts the findings are especially due. The first message contained the announcement of the action against the English group and said that indictments had been returned against C. F. Munday, A. H. Stracey, Archie W. Shields and E. E. Singley. A few minutes later came the second telegram, telling of the indictment of Cornelius Christopher, George Simmonds and Mortimer C. Sweeney of the second group. He added that warrants would be issued as soon as the indicted men could be apprehended.

Stracey, one of the men indicted, is a resident of Vancouver and is charged with being instrumental in making some of the locations. Munday is a prominent attorney in Seattle.

The charge against the indicted men is that the entries were made in the names of "dummy" men, most of the entries were residents of Washington and their claims are said to have been located with an agreement that the claims should be assigned or deeded to third parties as soon as parties willing to become interested should be found by the locator. There is said to have been a further understanding that the locator should receive a large percentage of the sale price.

Both groups of claims figured to a considerable extent in connection with the Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry. Charges of fraud as to the entries were made two years ago, and it was asserted that investigation had been stayed by the land office, supposedly for some sinister purpose.

Meeting this allegation with the statement that the services of the land office force were imperatively required elsewhere and that there was no statute of limitations to run against these cases, it was conceded that they were not pressed for a period. Since last May, however, Mr. Christensen has been giving the major portion of his time to them with a result over which the land office and the entire interior department confess itself much gratified.

Doctors, Parsons, Lawyers.
For according to our old saying, its three learned professions live by roguery on the three parts of a man. The doctor mauls our bodies, the parson starves our souls; but the lawyer must be the adroitest knave, for he has to ensnare our minds. Therefore he takes a careful delight in covering his traps and engines with a spread of dead-leaf words. Whereof himself knows little more than half the way to spell them.—Blackmore, "Lorna Doone."

Bad Company.
How do men feel whose whole lives (and many men's lives are) are lies, schemes, and subterfuges? What sort of company do they keep when they are alone? Daily in life I watch men whose every smile is an artifice and every wink an hypocrisy. Both such a fellow wear a mask in his own privacy, and to his own conscience?—Thackeray.

Chinese Superstition.
What is commonly called a "cash sword" is supposed to be efficacious in keeping away evil spirits. It is often hung on the front and outside of the bridal curtain in a position parallel to the horizon. It is said that it is a formidable weapon, of which the maliciously disposed spirits are exceedingly afraid.

Only One.
Little Jack's mother showed him a letter from a "new aunt," who had attained to this relationship by marrying Jack's favorite uncle. "Mamma," said Jack innocently, as he laboriously spelled out the signature, "Belle Paine," "does aunt pronounce her front name in two syllables?"—Lippincott's.

For Perfect Health.
In order to support life and growth and to maintain the strength and efficiency of the human body, some things are absolutely necessary. Among these, named perhaps in order of importance, are: Pure air, wholesome nutritious food, unbroken sleep, and some form of muscular exercise.

The Celestial Empire.
Celestial empire is derived from Tien Chou, that is, the heavenly dynasty, meaning the kingdom which the dynasty appointed by heaven rules over. The inhabitants are called celestials because they are subjects of that empire.

Refreshing Streams.
How often a man has cause to return thanks for enthusiasms of his friends! They are the little fountains that run down from the hills to refresh the mental desert of the despondent.—Henry Van Dyke.

Industry Grew With Nation.
In 1787 the first really successful glass factory in the United States was opened in Boston. Pittsburgh broke into the industry nine years later, and from that time on it spread rapidly as the nation grew.

Applied Learning.
The Absent-Minded Professor—"My tailor has put one button too many on my vest. I must cut it off. That's funny; now there's a buttonhole too many. What's the use of arithmetic?"—Sourire.

Waterproof.
Mother—"In all the wild storm your sister Maggie went out with her throat all bare and exposed." Brother—"Rain won't hurt her. She's got a rubber neck!"—Life.

There is an early reference in nearly every man's life when he thinks he is a born comedian.—Albany Journal.

Promises Like Picnests.
"I have such a pretty, new song," said a friend to me the other day. "I'll bring it round for you to try over tomorrow." Tomorrow came, but no song; it probably never will come now. Some people are great at making promises, but just as great at breaking them. Of course, it's only forgetfulness, but that is really no excuse. If you have a bad memory, safeguard it by jotting down in a notebook a little memorandum of the promises you make, just as a small reminder. A glance at this book the first thing every morning will not occupy a minute, and may save some one a bitter disappointment.—Home Chat.

No Perfect Physical Man.
Is there a perfect physical man? The average fellow who goes to an oculist finds that one eye is bad or his nose is lopsided; the tailor tells him one shoulder is lower than the other; the shoemaker says his feet are not mates. If he has any pride left he goes to the hospital and finds that his vermiform appendix is abnormal.—Tuleo Blade.

Buried in Her Piano.
A woman professor of music, who recently died at Marseilles, France, has been buried in her piano in obedience to her final wish. She gave as her reason for this strange request that the happiest hours of her life had been spent at her piano. Owing to the great size of this original coffin an immense grave had to be dug.

Where Ignorance is Bliss.
Who ever heard of a man who put in his eight or twelve hours a day in physical effort, actual muscular work, having time to bother about his insides; most of them are unaware of the fact that they have anything beneath their skins besides a heart and a stomach.

His Idea of the Matter.
"The dear old songs they used to sing," began the sentimentalist. "Yes," replied Mr. Lowbrow, "I've heard about them. My private opinion is that we appreciate them because people don't insist on singing them any more."

Enough Said.

Before I used Foley's Kidney Pills I had severe backaches and pains in my kidneys with suppression and a cloudy voiding. On arising in the morning I would get dull headaches. Now I have taken three bottles of Foley's Kidney Pills and feel 100 per cent. better. I am never bothered with my kidneys or bladder and again feel like my own self." Lee & Osgood Co.

The day returns and brings us the petty round of irritating concerns and duties. Help us to play the man and perform them with laughter and kind faces. Let cheerfulness abound with industry. Give us to go blithely on our business all this day, bring us to our resting beds weary and content and undishonored, and grant us in the end the gift of sleep.

Not Much of a Secret.
A little book on sale is entitled "The Secret of a Happy Life." There's no secret about it. All you have to do is to pay your debts, get married, let your wife be the boss and never try to lick a bigger man than yourself. There may be other roads to happiness, but this is the shortest cut.

Completely Qualified.
"There's one candidate for the Ananias club," said the tremulous man with a subdued expression, "whom nobody mentions. I don't see how they missed him." "Who is he?" "The dentist who solemnly assures you that it isn't going to hurt."

Not Useful.
Mrs. Styles—"This paper says the total number of useful domestic animals on the globe is believed to be about 1,500,000,000." Mr. Styles—"Don't for one instant think that that pet dog of yours is included in that number."

Why She Could Not Think.
A little girl was told by her nurse that if she did not think so much by day she would dream less at night. "But I can't help thinking," she said, and added pathetically, "I cannot make my mind sit down."

For Remembrance.

Daily Thought.
A cowardly cur barks more fiercely than it bites.—Quintus Curtius Rufus.

Chester.
All factories on the north stream are running by power rather than water now.

Origin of Christening Ships.
The ceremony of christening ships is a survival of a barbaric custom when sacrifices were made to the gods, and some living victim or offering was held up and its throat cut so that the blood flowed over the prow of the ship being launched. The vessel was baptized in warm blood. Now sprinkling wine or pure water is used, and the change has many advantages, though the symbolism remains.

Just Holding Gum in Trust.
A little seven-year-old Boston girl came into the house the other day chewing gum vigorously. Her mother was horrified and ordered the little one to throw the gum away. The usually obedient child shook her head firmly. "I can't throw it away," she said, "because it ain't mine. It belongs to Harbair, but she lent it to me till two o'clock."

The Cheapest Seat.
Here is the latest joke from the British metropolis: "The country visitor was doing London and went to a well known concert hall. He was particularly to inquire the price of seats and the obliging attendant said: 'Front seats, two shillings; back, one shilling; program, a penny.' 'Oh, well, then,' blandly replied the countryman, 'I'll sit on a program.'"

Where Honor Should Be Given.
Nobility is not only in dignity and ancient lineage, or great revenues, lands, or possessions, but in wisdom, knowledge and virtue, which in man is very nobility, and this nobility bringeth to man dignity. Honor ought to be given to virtue, and not to riches.—Anarchism.

Peanuts.
By far the largest peanut market in the world is Norfolk, Va. The entire crop of Virginia and North Carolina is handled there, amounting to over 2,000,000 bushels a year and requiring several large factories to sort, clean and prepare the nuts for market.—Indianapolis News.

A Merger.
Regular Customer—"There used to be two or three little bald spots on the crown of my head, away back. Are they there yet?" Barber—"No, sir; it ain't so bad as all that. Where those spots used to be, sir, there's only one now."

About the Only Thing Left.
"My present patient," said the pretty nurse, "is very exacting. 'Wants something all the time.' 'Never mind. He may ask you to marry him.' 'I wouldn't be surprised if he did. He has about run out of other requests.'"

Very Particular.
Little Charles, aged four, is very fond of chicken, and when he saw the chicken pie brought in for dinner said: "Please, papa, I want some chicken, but not any of the coop."—The Delineator.

All Have Their Burdens.
Nearly everybody is handicapped in some way. So don't fancy you are unique in having things to put up with and fight against. We are here to fight—and to conquer.—Home Notes.

Pathetic.
"Tis the irony of fate," sighed the county fair aeronaut. "When a boy I wore patches on my trousers and now that I'm a man I sail the skies in a patched balloon."

Daily Thought.
What an ornament and safeguard is humor! Far better than wit for a poet and writer. It is a genius itself, and so defends from the inuities.—Walter Scott.

The Ultimate Motive.
Gov. Pothier of Rhode Island has been riding in a freight carbox. What advantage has this method over any other? He has the train men.—Boston Herald.
